5. The LORD gives wa - ter to the trees be - low,
6. Dark - ness you've made, and when the night's en - sued,
7. O LORD, how man - y are the works you've done!
8. All crea - tures look to you for sus - ten - ance;

and rain to make ce - dars of Leb' - non grow.
the for - est beasts e - merge to seek their food.
In wis - dom you have made them, ev - ery one.
and in due course you give them nour - ish - ment.

In them the birds have built their hab - i - ta - tion,
The youth - ful li - ons for their prey are roar - ing;
The earth is full of each cre - at - ed won - der.
What you be - stow on them they gath - er glad - ly;

a shel - ter for their fu - ture gen - er - a - tion.
their sus - te - nance from God they are im - plor - ing.
The great ex - pane of sea is roar - ing yon - der.
your op - en hand has giv - en to them free - ly.

Goats wan - der ov - er tower - ing moun - tain peak;
 When the sun ris - es, then they go to sleep,
 Beasts with - out num - ber creep a - long the ground,
 They are in ter - ror when you hide your face;

bad - gers be - neath the rocks a re - fuge seek.
 ly - ing with - in their dens in slum - ber deep,
 large and small crea - tures mov - ing all a - round.
 when you de - prive of breath, they leave this place.

You've made the moon to mark the sea - sons' pass - ing,
 while peo - ple rise to start their dai - ly la - bour
 Ships ply the seas and sail to dis - tant na - tion;
 You send your spir - it to re - new cre - a - tion

the sun to know the time it should be set - ting.
 and work un - til the night - fall ends their la - bour.
 ev - en lev - i - a - than is your cre - a - tion.
 and to the earth bring life and your sal - va - tion.
