

Psalm 1

Tune: Strasbourg, 1539; Geneva, 1551

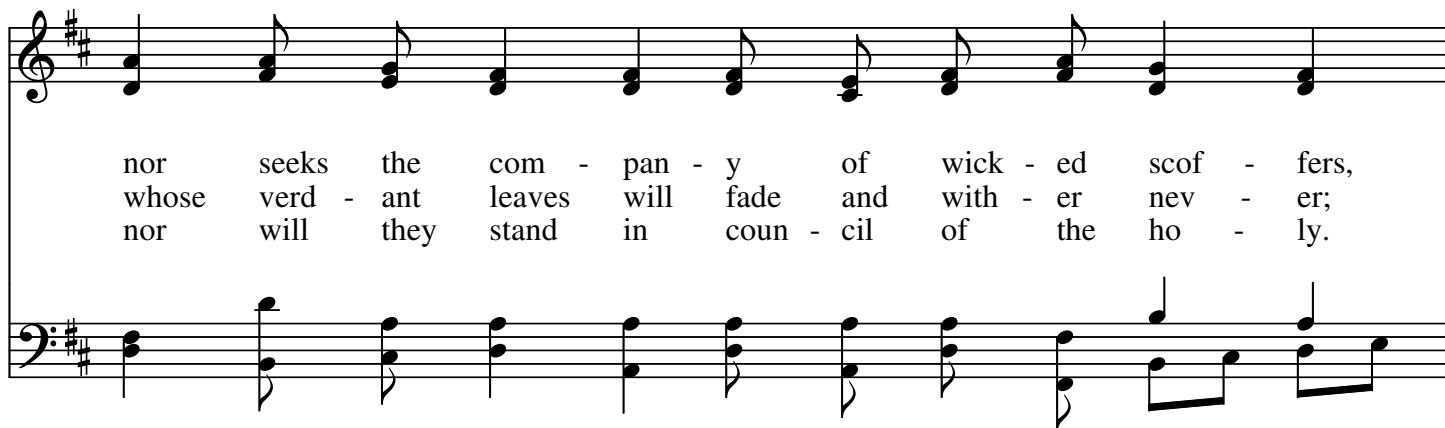

♩ = 80

1. How blest the man who keeps from evil ways,
2. He's like a tree that grows beside the stream,
3. For they, like chaff, before the wind are blown who heeds not sinful counsel all his days, whose fruitful limbs with ripened bounty teem,

and will not last before the judgment throne,

nor seeks the company of wicked scoffers, whose verdant leaves will fade and wither never;
nor will they stand in council of the holy.

but takes de - light in all the Lord God of - fers
all that he un - der - takes in faith will ev - er
But God pro - tects all those who fol - low sole - ly with - in the stat - utes of his ho - ly Law:

be blessed by God with great pros - per - i - ty.
the paths of vir - tue and of right - eous - ness,

both day and night he pon - ders it with awe.
But wick - ed ones a dif - ferent lot shall see.
while death shall stalk the ways of wick - ed - ness.
