

Psalm 50:1-11

Genevan Psalter, 1543, 1551

♩⁸⁵

1. The might - y Lord calls out to all the world;
2. His call ex - tends to earth and heaven a - bove
3. "Hear me, my peo - ple; lis - ten to my word;
4. "For eve - ry for - est beast be - longs to me,

from east to west his sum - mons is un - furled.
that he might judge his peo - ple in his love:
I am your God whose wit - ness must be heard.
the cat - tle on a thous - and hills, you see,

Per - fect in beau - ty, out of Zi - on's hill,
"Gath - er my faith - ful ones who are my own,
I find no fault with offer - ings giv - en me,
each bird that soars a - loft with - in the air,

God's light is shin - ing forth wher - e'er it will.
sealed by a sac - ri - fice for sins a - toned."
your sac - ri - fic - es made con - tin - ual - ly.
mine are the beasts that wan - der eve - ry - where.

Keep - ing not si - lent, God is sure - ly com - ing,
The heavens ac - claim his jus - tice and sal - va - tion,
I do not ask that one more bull be giv - en,
If I were hun - gry, why then should you know it,

with fire con - sum - ing and a tem - pest storm - ing.
for God will judge a - right o'er eve - ry na - tion.
nor one more ram be of - fered up to heav - en.
when mine is earth and eve - ry - thing with - in it?
